

Kentucky Refugee Ministries, Covington Job Developer (full-time)

As part of the KRM Covington staff, the Job Developer will provide direct job readiness and job placement services to around 100 employable refugees and immigrants a year. Essential duties will include contacting area employers to identify job opportunities, and identifying and taking refugees to apply for those positions. Accordingly, a sizeable minority of the Job Developer's time may be spent outside the office, directly assisting clients in applying for jobs.

The overall caseload will include clients with varying levels of English proficiency—with some speaking little or no English—and diverse educational, cultural and vocational backgrounds. Clients will age in range and include sizeable numbers of women, youth and young adult refugee and immigrant job seekers.

Most clients will be placed in entry level jobs paying $14/hour to $19/hour. The main industries hiring refugees are logistics/distribution, food processing, manufacturing, hospitality, healthcare, environmental services and restaurants. The Job Developer must have the interpersonal skills and follow-up to maintain this roster of employment partners and the initiative to develop new ones.

The Job Developer will be expected in job readiness orientations and individual instruction to prepare refugees to successfully obtain and retain employment. KRM employment staff must have good geographic knowledge of the Northern Kentucky area to be able to locate employment that clients can reasonably access by bus from their place of residence.

In keeping with KRM's mandated objective of promoting refugee self-sufficiency, the employment services team will seek to place clients in full-time jobs early within their resettlement, usually three to six months after arrival. However, employment assistance will also be provided to refugees who have been in the United States for longer periods.

All employment services activities and outcomes must be casenoted and tracked with required supporting documentation. Good office and organizational skills are a must.

Essential Duties

The Job Developer will carry out the following activities:

- Provide enrollment in, and orientation on, KRM's employment program for newly-arrived refugees
- Conduct pre-employment assessments of clients' job skills and employment history
- Research the Northern Kentucky job market; identify new opportunities suitable for refugees
- Match available jobs to particular client skills
- Assist clients during the entire job application process; including coordinating interviews and applications with company human resources staff and transporting clients to employers' offices/facilities to complete applications/interviews
- Instruct and assist clients in completing drug, background and other pre-employment screenings
- Orient clients on public transportation routes and schedules needed to get/from jobs
- Coordinate with other KRM staff to ensure refugee parents have needed childcare arrangements in place to begin work
- Conduct follow-up with employers to check on status/retention of recently-hired clients and troubleshoot issues between employees and newly-hired clients.
- Submit wage and employment information internally and to the Department of Community Based Services (DCBS)
- Present and develop a work orientation series that prepares clients to acquire and retain employment in the United States. These "World of Work" orientations covers topics including basic employer expectations, how to fill out job applications, interviewing skills and techniques, understanding paychecks, and proper procedures for handling various on-the-job scenarios
- Document all refugee employment services activities per program guidelines

Agency Profile

Founded in 1990 as a nonprofit agency in Louisville, Kentucky Refugee Ministries (KRM) is a local affiliate of Church World Service, one of nine national voluntary agencies authorized to provide resettlement services to refugees legally admitted to the United States through the State Department. Separately, KRM has also resettled over 450 Afghan evacuees, about 34 in Northern Kentucky.

In addition to refugees, KRM currently serves a sizable number of Cuban who have recently migrated to the U.S., as well as a small number of individuals from various countries who have been approved for asylum, are applying for asylum, or are otherwise resident in Kentucky.

KRM secures housing and medical care for clients and provides them with comprehensive case management including employment services, ESL and cultural orientation, and specialized programs for immigrant youth and elders, victims of crime, and the arts. KRM also offers citizenship classes for legal permanent residents preparing to apply for U.S. citizenship.

KRM staff do not engage in any religious messaging in connection to delivery of client services.
